FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Congressional Candidate Chris Eddy Names Small Business and Economic Advisor

Chris Eddy, GOP candidate for Congress in District 25, South Florida, a retired Air Force Reserve Brigadier General, a retired FBI Intelligence leader, and a City Commissioner in Weston, FL introduced noted CEO and business author/consultant Bill Adams as the campaign's Small Business and Economic Advisor.

"Americans' #1 concern is the economy and with cumulative inflation over the past 3 years ravaging our ability to pay our bills, 72% of us recognize our incomes are falling behind our ability to meet our basic needs." American households now pay more than \$8,500 more a year for the same goods and services as just two years ago. "Not too many people I've met received a $8,500 annual raise to cover this crushing costs," said General Eddy.

Local small business owners in attendance shared their struggles just to keep their doors open with the increased cost of supplies, labor, rents, and insurance. Eddy commented, "Small businesses are the lifeblood of our communities and our economies. We've seen what happens in other cities when businesses fail...there are vacant downtowns which create a spiral of homelessness, increased crime, and a lower tax base."

Bill Adams was recognized as one of the 5 best CEOs to watch in 2023 by CIO Bulletin Magazine. Adams' latest venture, Targetek, Inc., incorporates artificial intelligence from the C Suite to every level of an organization, empowering leaders and creating massive efficiencies. Adams created, grew, and sold multiple companies throughout his career and also served as interim chairman and CEO for six NASDAQ companies and has several national awards to his credit.

Eddy remains committed to meeting the needs of his constituents in District 25 and remains focused on Fiscal Discipline and Security to restore hope in Americans.
